

The lesion in the hand is shown here in close-up.

This girl had an almost completely destroyed hip joint.

The diagnosis of tuberculosis of the left hip in this boy was made from the secretion from a sinus draining through the skin by demonstrating acid-fast bacilli.

Tuberculosis of the wrist.

The radiograph shows the complete destruction of the distal phalanx.

